

Your visit to Chicago Children's Advocacy Center

Let's take a look inside!

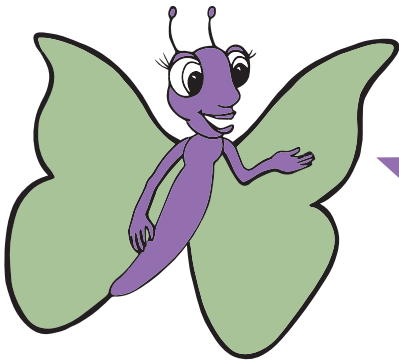

When you arrive at ChicagoCAC, you will be greeted by a family advocate.

Your family advocate is someone who will tell you about your day at the center and what to expect. Your advocate will also show you the room where you will talk with a forensic interviewer.

A forensic interviewer is a person who talks to kids and asks them questions.

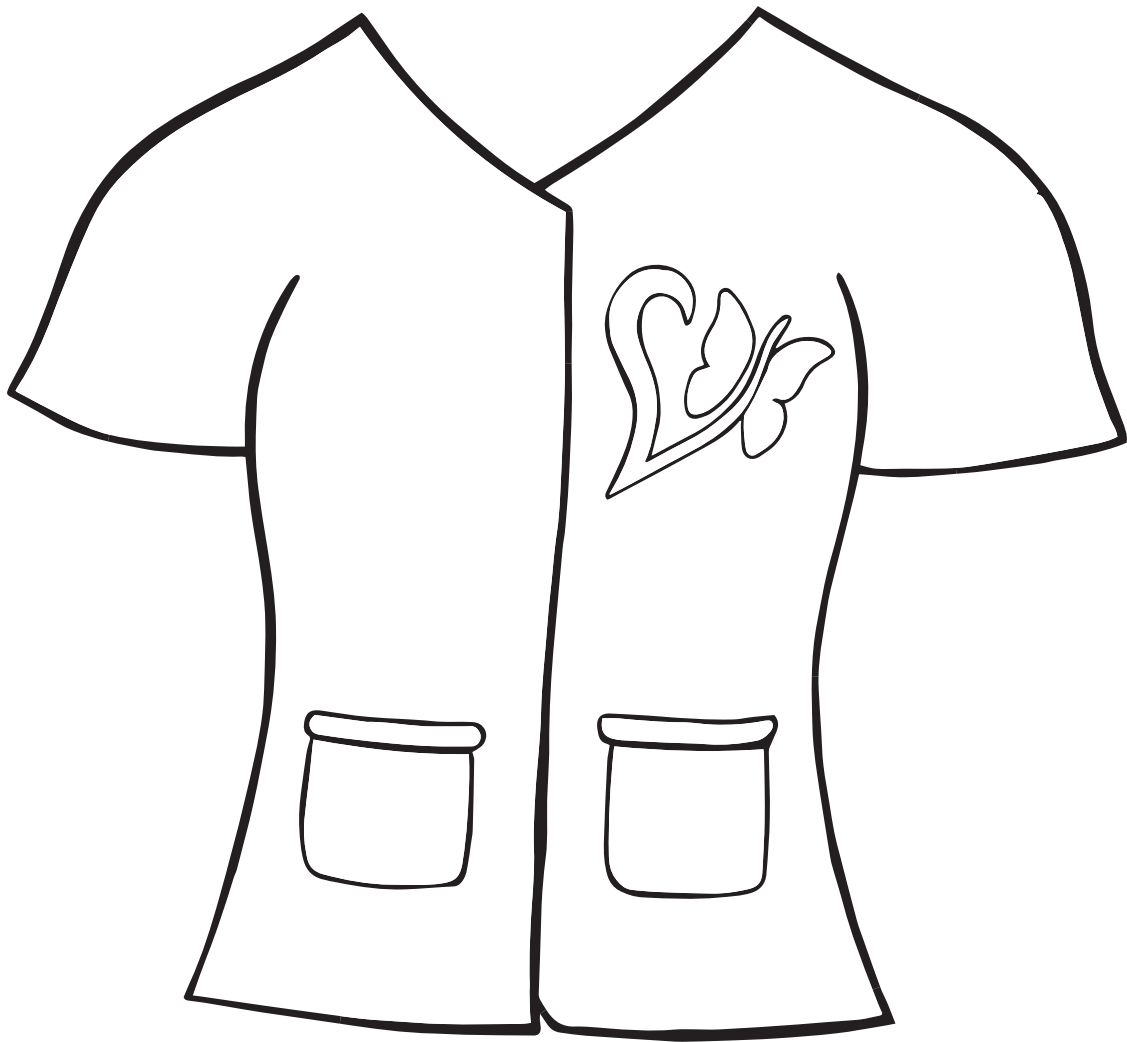

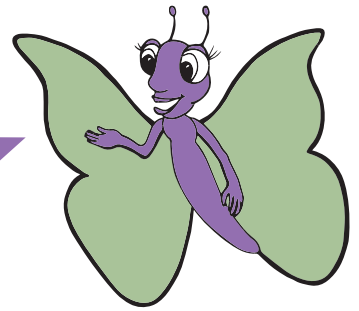

You will have time to play while you are at ChicagoCAC. You will meet another staff member called a child life specialist.

A child life specialist will give you toys and games to play with while you wait. The child life specialist will also show you a picture of the forensic interviewer.

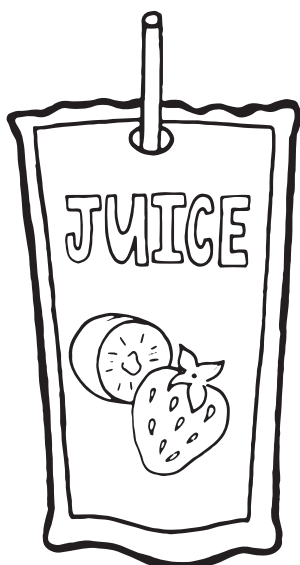

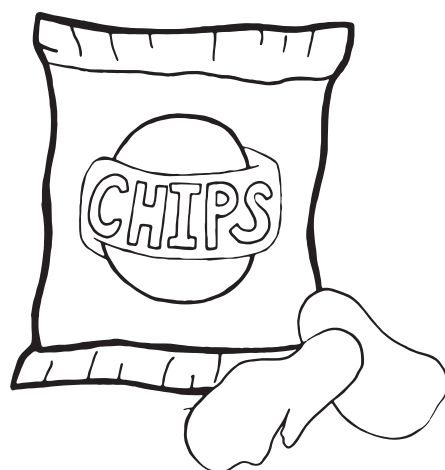

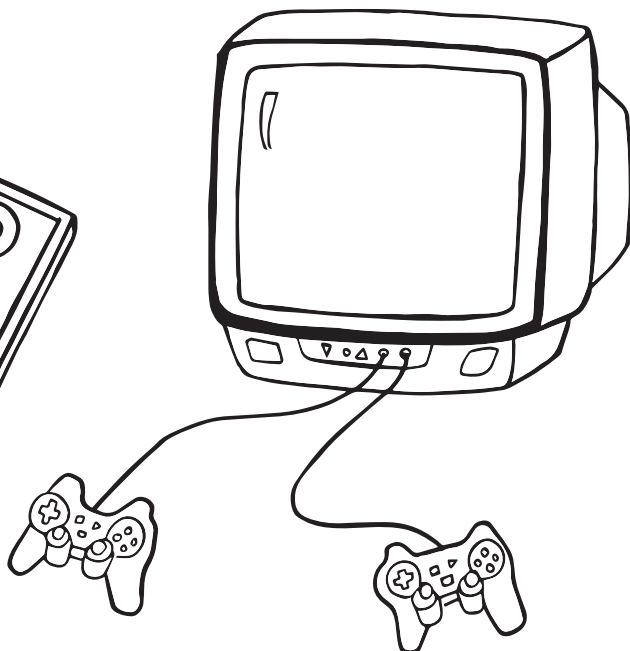

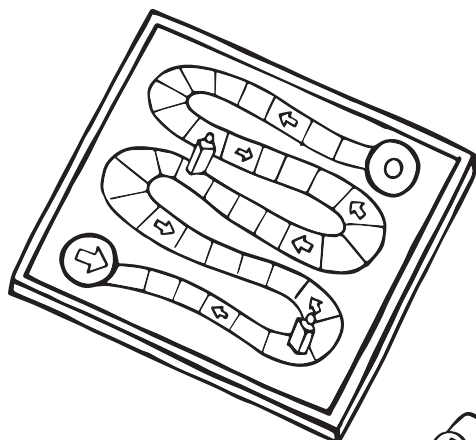

The child life specialist will be wearing a purple shirt.

Can you color the shirt purple?

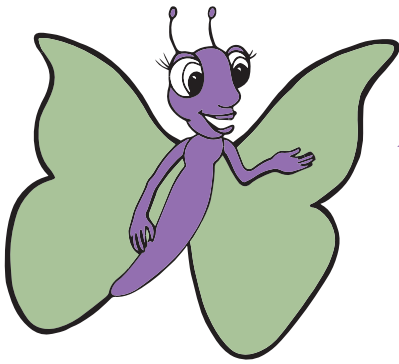

While you are at the center you can color, play games, watch a movie and do lots of other fun activities! We also have yummy food and snacks if you get hungry.

What are some toys you like to play with?

What is your favorite board game?

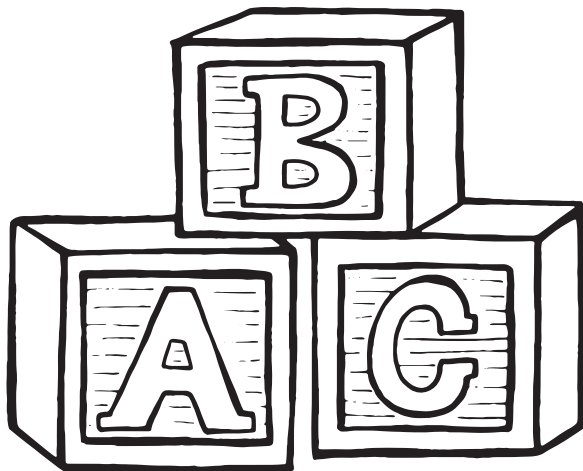

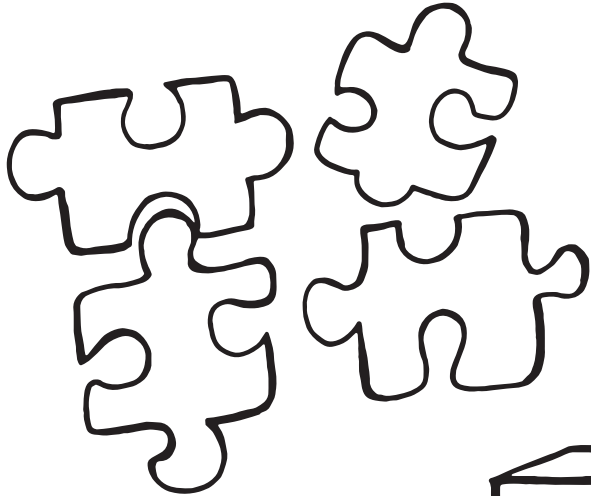

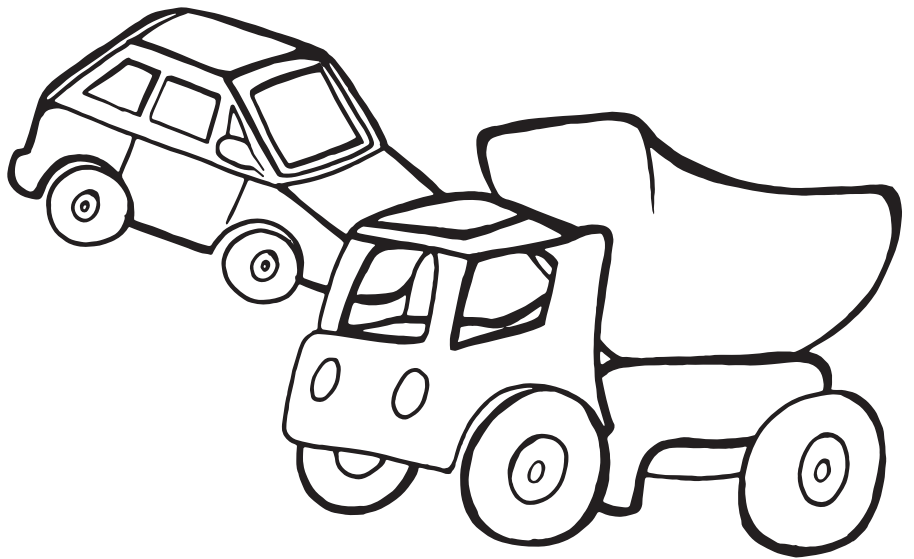

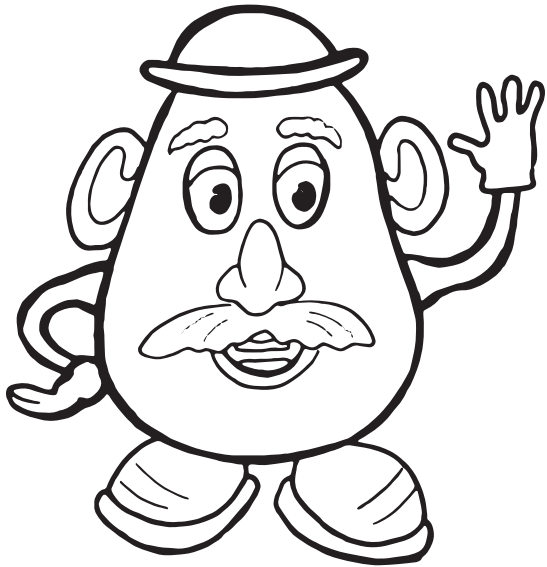

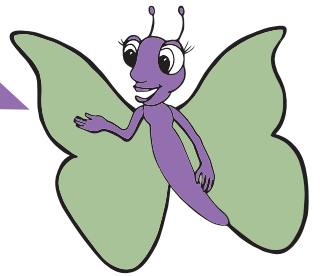

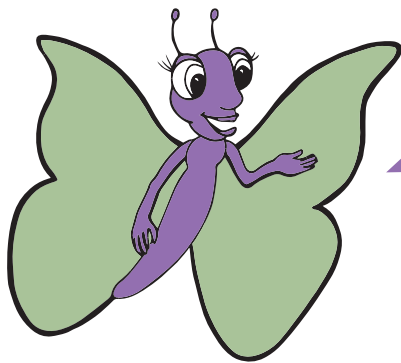

After you play, it will be time to go to the talking room with a forensic interviewer. This is the person who talks to kids.

Can you draw a picture of yourself sitting in the comfy chair?

When you are done talking, you will have more time to play!

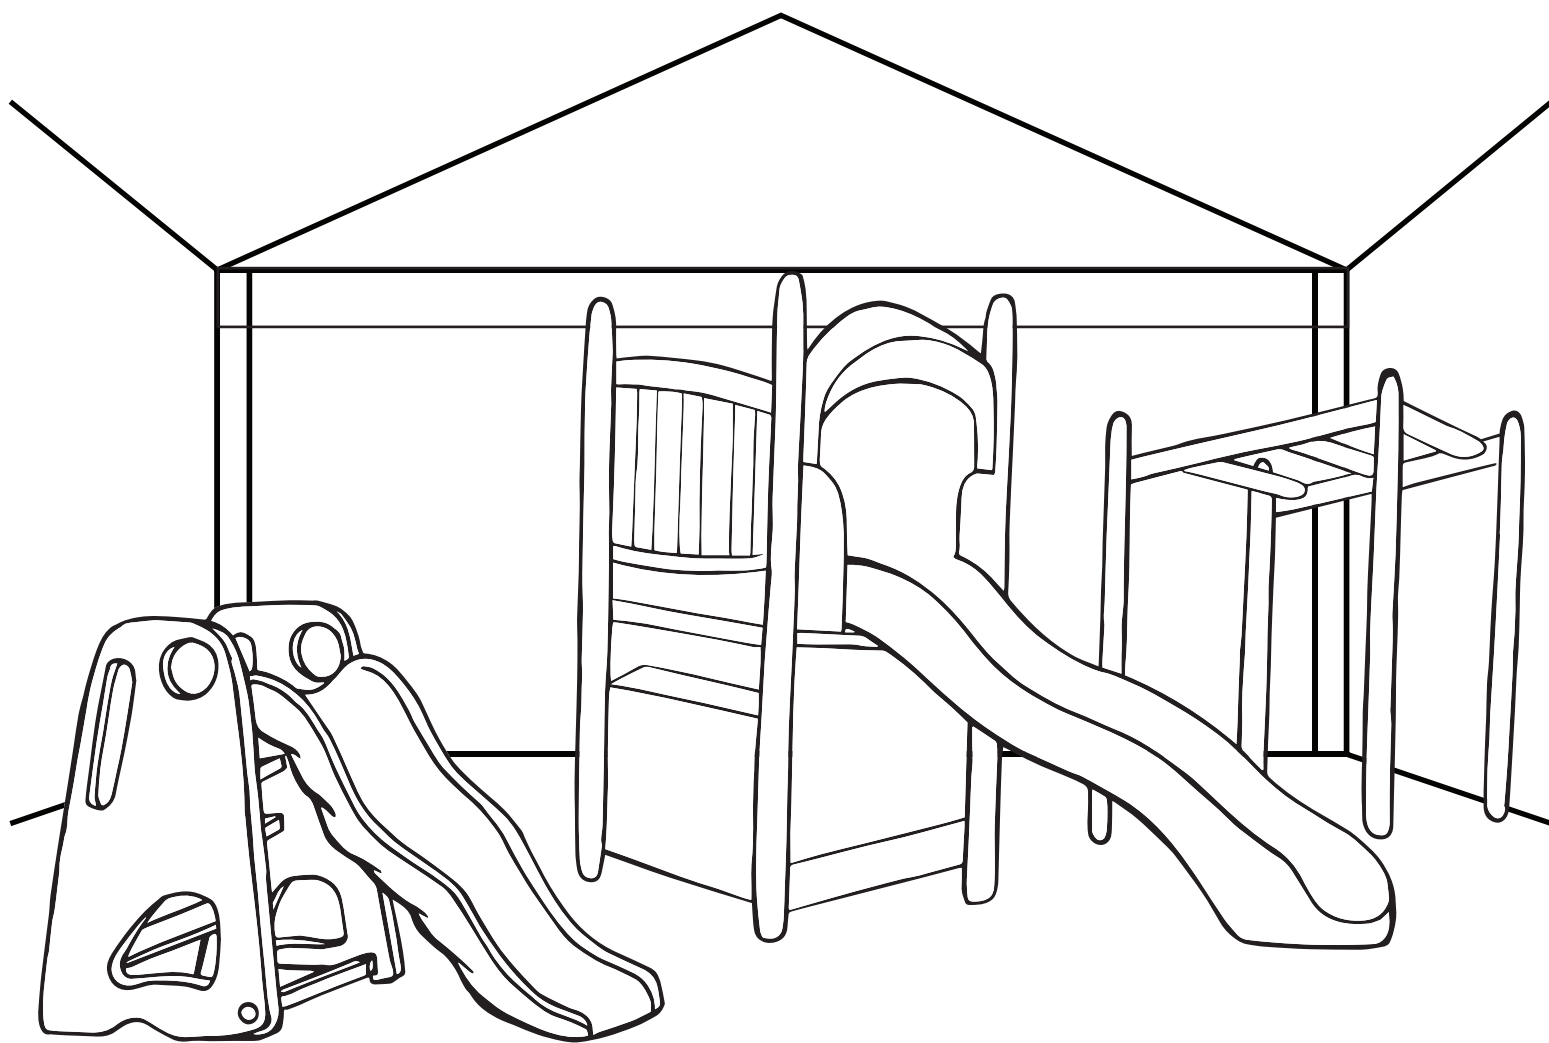

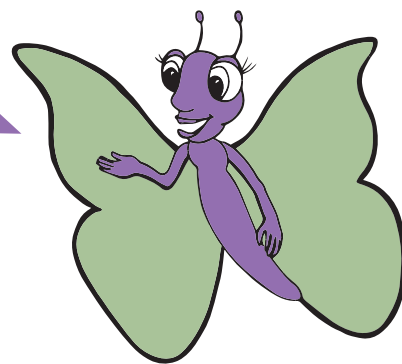

Find out what you can play with and the different activities you can do at ChicagoCAC!

ChicagoCAC offers special activities throughout the week. You might come to the center on a day when we have Canine Companionship or Music Magic.

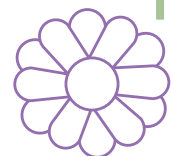

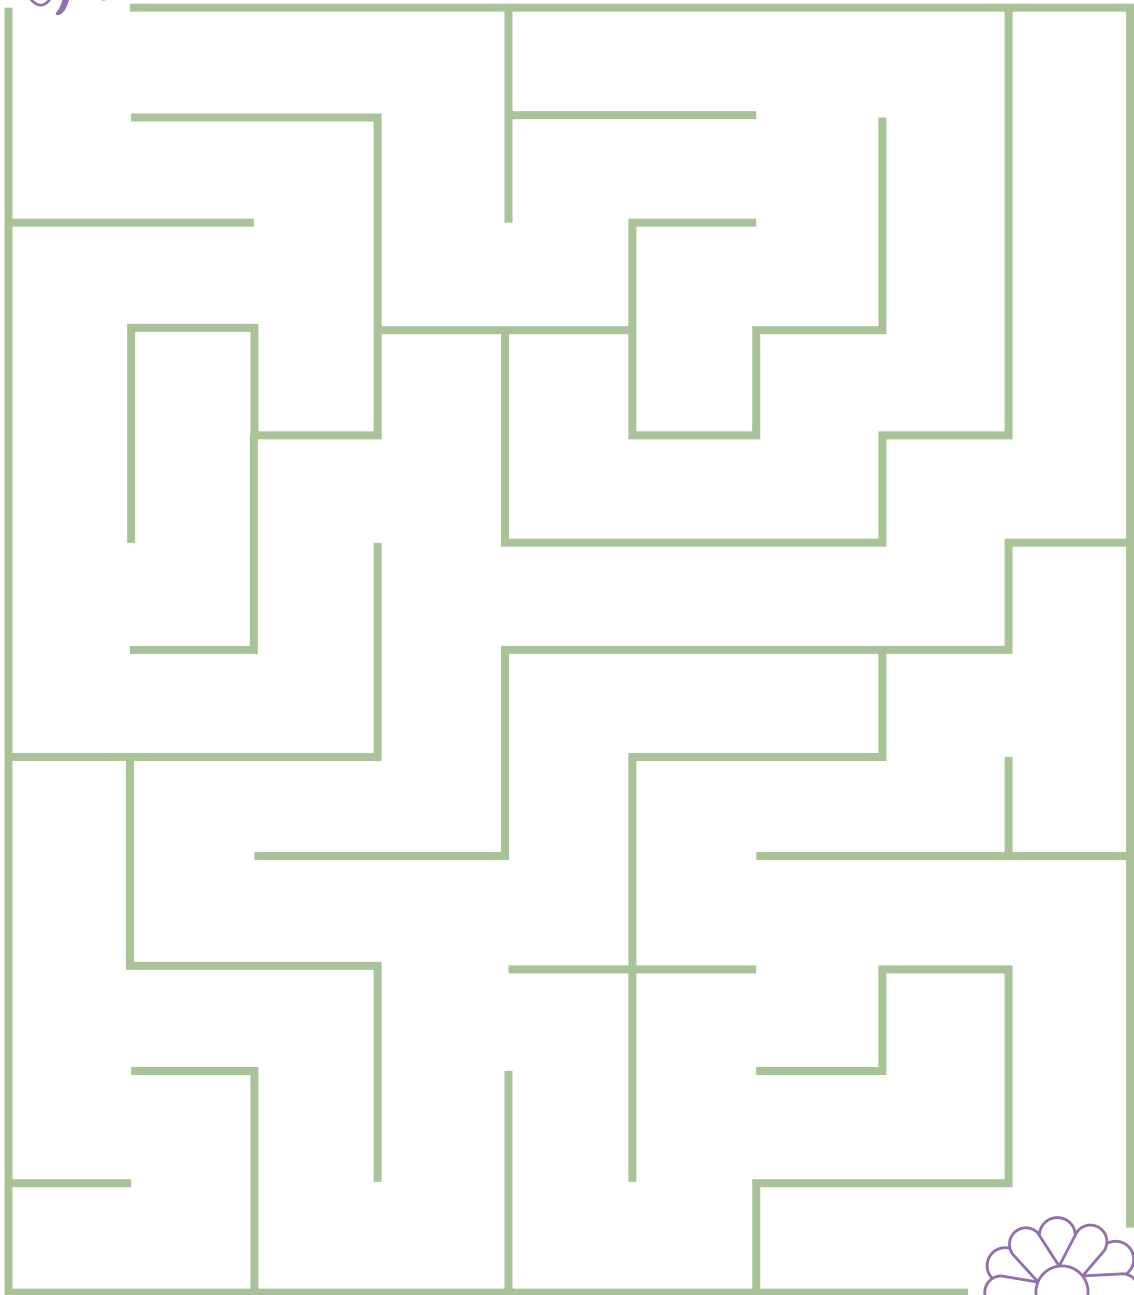

Canine Companionship lets kids play with therapy dogs that are specially trained.

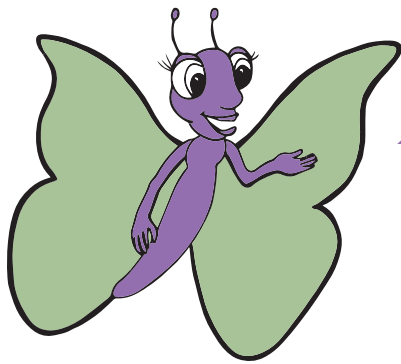

Music Magic teaches kids to play different instruments.

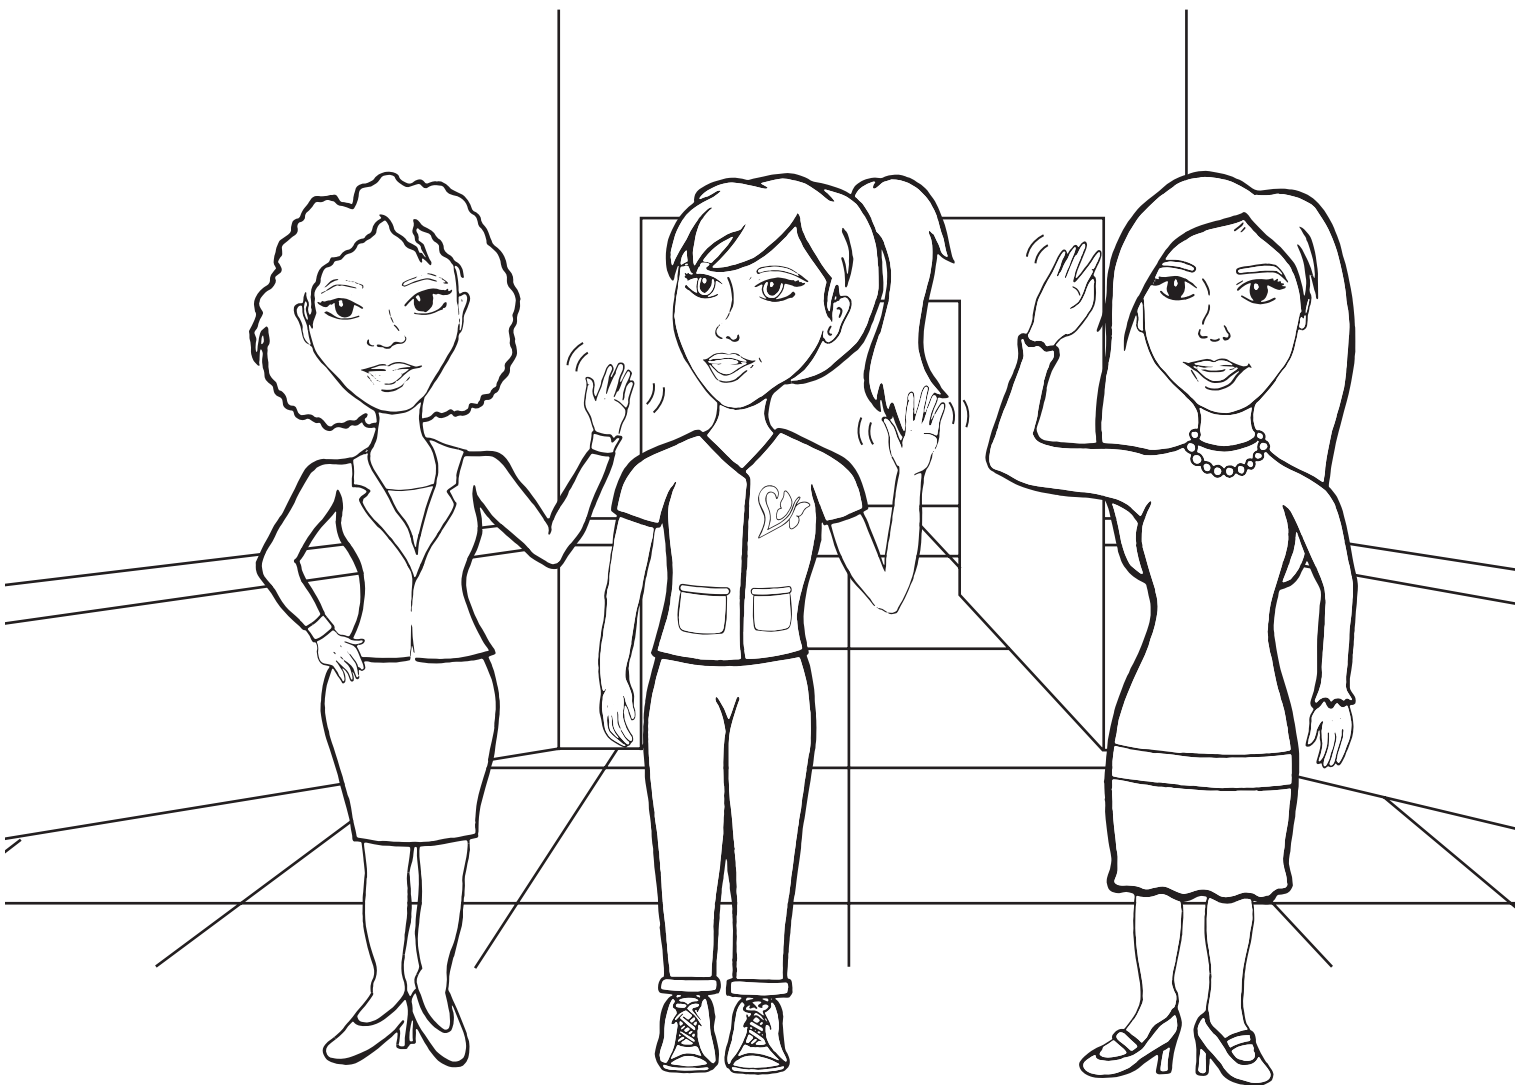

Can you help the butterfly get to the flower?

When it is time to leave ChicagoCAC, your family advocate will say goodbye and walk you out. We are excited to meet you!

This coloring book was created by students at The American Academy of Art in the winter of 2018. Special thanks to Marina Meersman for creating all of the illustrations!
